

How Referrals Work

EduLinked Referral Guide

www.edulinked.com.au

*EduLinked works with individuals,
services, and community
organisations to support people who want to build communication confidence and participation skills.*

You can refer yourself or someone else.

Our referral process is simple and supportive.

Provide basic details

Tell us about the person who would like support.

This may be you or someone you are referring.

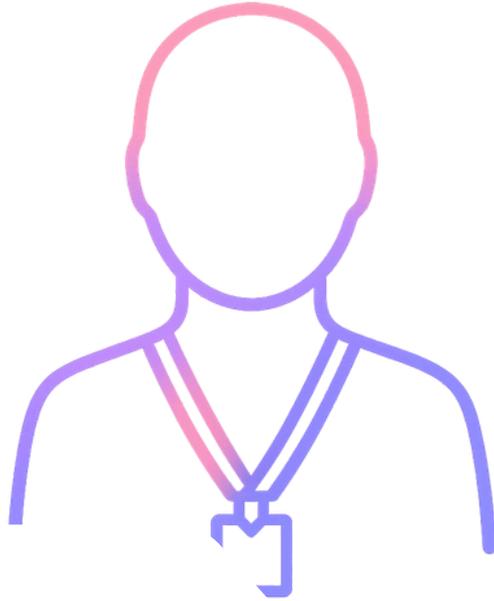

This helps us understand how to provide the right support.

We may ask for:

- support needs
- communication or access requirements
- preferred ways to communicate
- contact details

This helps us understand how to provide the right support.

We review and connect

Our team reviews the information.

We look at the person's goals and support needs.

We then connect them with the most suitable program, workshop, or specialist.

If needed, we may contact you for more information.

Short plan or pilot

Many people begin with a short program or pilot.

This may include:

- practical learning activities
- accessible communication tools
- supportive learning environments
- simple evaluation to understand what works best

This approach helps us tailor support to each person.
