Purpose

This guide explains how creating a project is different from sharing a project.

Key message

- Creating a project is different from sharing a project.
- A learner can create work and keep it private.
- Public sharing is optional.

Before sharing

- The learner should review the project first.
- The learner can ask for changes.
- The learner can decide who may see the work.
- The learner can decide not to share.

Sharing choices

- Private completion.
- Tutor or small group sharing.
- Showcase review if available.
- Online sharing only when consent and review are complete.

Changing your mind

- A learner can change their mind where possible.
- Online sharing can be harder to take back.
- Ask EduLinked before any public use of learner work.

What supporters and partners must not do

- Do not pressure a learner to share publicly.
- Do not post learner media without consent.
- Do not use names, quotes, photos or videos without approval.
