This document is written in plain language and is intended for institutional enquiry, pilot planning and accessible procurement conversations.

1. What this document is for

This information sheet explains what happens when a school, library, institution or partner asks EduLinked about EMLS.

2. A demo or enquiry can help you

- Understand what EMLS is and what it is designed to do.
- Explore whether EMLS suits your school, library or institution.
- Discuss possible pilot modules or deployment options.
- Identify accessibility formats and support needs.
- Consider procurement, licensing and reporting requirements.

3. What EduLinked may ask

- What type of institution or organisation you represent.
- Who the learning program would support.
- Which learning goals or modules are most relevant.
- What accessibility supports are required.
- Whether you are exploring a pilot, licence, training cohort or general information.

4. What a demo does not confirm

- A demo does not confirm a licence.
- A demo does not confirm funding or procurement approval.
- A demo does not guarantee a delivery date.
- A demo does not guarantee formal accreditation or learner outcomes.
